The session stressed the importance of critical thinking and vigilance in the digital age, especially among the youth who are active digital natives. Through interactive discussions and real-life examples, students were empowered with the knowledge to identify suspicious online behaviour, understand the ethical and legal implications of deepfakes, and protect their personal data across digital platforms.

This initiative reflects the Centre's unwavering commitment to nurturing informed, responsible digital citizens and bridging the knowledge gap through grassroots educational outreach. It also marks a significant step toward building a safer cyber environment by equipping the future generation with awareness and resilience.

Cyber Security & Deepfake Technology Awareness at Blue Bell School

20th April 2024

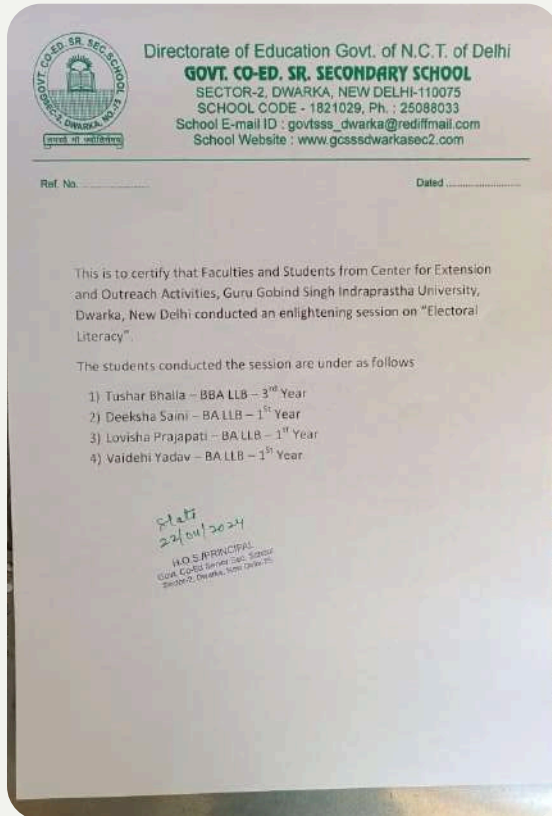

Awareness programme around the theme of Cyber Security and Deepfake Technology awareness conducted by PhD scholar Ms. Asma Rizvi, University School of Law and Legal Studies, GGSIP University on behalf of the Centre for Outreach and Extension Activities at a few notable schools in the country. The students of Blue Bell Dr. Tirth Dube Memorial Senior Secondary School, got elevated with some vital details in congruence with some crucial aspects of cyber security and current technologies such as deepfake.

In an era dominated by rapid digital transformation, the importance of educating young minds about cyber safety and the risks posed by emerging technologies cannot be overstated. In line with this vision, the Centre for Outreach and Extension Activities (OEA) facilitated a comprehensive awareness programme aimed at sensitizing school students about Cyber Security and Deepfake Technology—two of the most pressing concerns in today's digital ecosystem.

The session stressed the importance of critical thinking and vigilance in the digital age, especially among the youth who are active digital natives. Through interactive discussions and real-life examples, students were empowered with the knowledge to identify suspicious online behaviour, understand the ethical and legal implications of deepfakes, and protect their personal data across digital platforms. This initiative reflects the Centre's unwavering commitment to nurturing informed, responsible digital citizens and bridging the knowledge gap through grassroots educational outreach.

Awareness initiative on electoral literacy at Govt. Senior Secondary School, Sec-2 Dwarka

22nd April 2024

Outreach programme conducted in school under the theme of electoral literacy by the students and faculty of the University School of Law and Legal Studies, Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University. The event provided the participants with vital insights in regards to electoral law and how it interplays a vital role in the flourishing of the institution of democracy.

In a vibrant democracy like India, the power of the vote is one of the most fundamental rights and responsibilities bestowed upon every eligible citizen. Yet, the full potential of democratic participation can only be realized when citizens are informed, aware, and actively engaged in the electoral process. This is where electoral literacy plays a crucial role.

Youth are not only the largest segment of new voters but also the torchbearers of change. By integrating electoral literacy into the education system and organizing campus-based awareness programmes, we cultivate responsible, aware citizens who value the sanctity of the vote. Teachers, mentors, and community leaders play a vital role in spreading this awareness and encouraging dialogue on democratic participation.

Electoral literacy is more than just understanding how to vote, it's about embracing the spirit of democracy and recognising the power of every single vote to shape the nation's future. By fostering electoral literacy at the grassroots level, we lay the foundation for a more transparent, inclusive, and accountable democracy.

In collaboration with Naye Pankh NGO

Conducted by: Ashtmi Verma, Devanshi Bajpai, Shraddha Chatterjee, Jiya

Held in a slum area of Kanpur, the session was led in person by Devanshi Bajpai, while the rest of the team—Ashtmi Verma, Shraddha Chatterjee, and Jiya—joined online via Google Meet. Initially, the turnout was low due to many residents being at work, but as the session progressed, over 50 households participated.

The session began with an explanation of women's constitutional rights, including legal protections against dowry, rape, and other gender-based crimes. The team also introduced alternative dispute resolution (ADR) as a mechanism for justice. The presentation used a prepared PDF to ensure clarity and accessibility.

Toward the end, government schemes supporting women were discussed in simple terms. The women responded with enthusiasm and gratitude, appreciating the relevance and practicality of the information shared. The program not only informed attendees but also gave the students hands-on experience with community outreach, aligning with the goal of legal empowerment at the grassroots level

Outreach Session on Constitutional Awareness and Free Legal Aid at Kendriya Vidyalaya, Paschim Vihar

15th July 2024

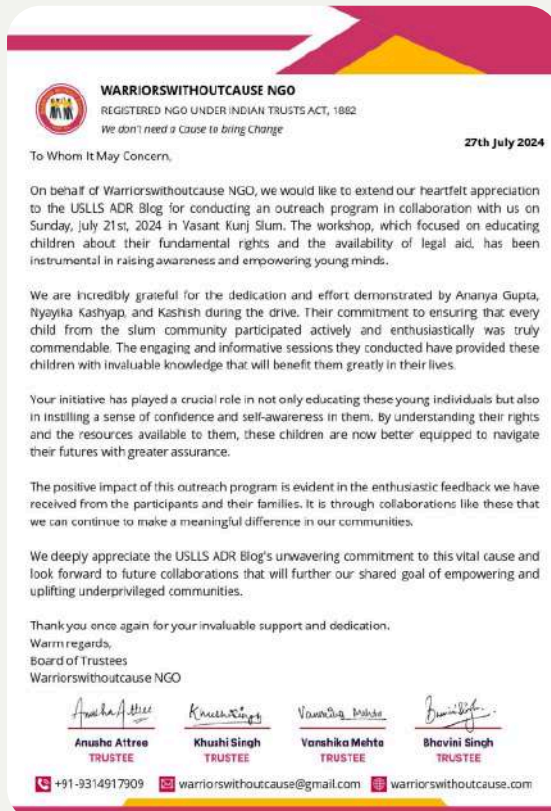

Conducted by: Yash Kumar, Mehal Maini, Adaa Sheikh, Anshika Agarwal. This outreach session focused on promoting constitutional awareness and the concept of free legal aid among school children. Held at Kendriya Vidyalaya, Paschim Vihar, the session began with a simplified introduction to the Indian Constitution. The facilitators emphasized the importance of understanding fundamental rights, such as equality, freedom, and education. Students responded with keen interest, asking thoughtful questions that led to deeper discussions.

The second half of the program introduced the concept of legal aid—an area unfamiliar to most students. By explaining how the government provides free legal services to those in need, the session helped dismantle the misconception that legal support is always expensive. To keep the session engaging, the team conducted a short interactive quiz which was well-received. Notably, several students expressed interest in legal careers by the end of the session.

The positive feedback from both students and teachers highlighted the session's effectiveness. The outreach achieved its goal of spreading legal awareness while empowering students with knowledge about their rights and available resources. This outreach, conducted in the slum areas of Vasant Kunj, New Delhi, in association with the NGO WarriorsWithoutCause, aimed at empowering urban poor communities through legal awareness. While individual student names aren't specified, the session was in line with the themes covered in other similar events: women's rights, child protection, digital safety, and government welfare schemes. The informal setting required a more conversational approach, allowing facilitators to engage with community members—particularly women and young girls—on issues like domestic violence, dowry, and workplace harassment.

The team likely used translated material and storytelling methods to explain legal provisions and available grievance redressal mechanisms. Emphasis would also have been placed on the use of Lok Adalats and legal aid clinics. Additionally, considering the growing penetration of mobile phones, there may have been a segment on online safety and awareness of cybercrimes. Participants were encouraged to ask questions and share their experiences, making the session highly interactive and empathetic.

This outreach successfully bridged the information gap in an underserved locality and encouraged residents to assert their rights, seek institutional help when needed, and share the knowledge with others in their community.

This presented an opportunity to deepen their understanding of the act and its practical relevance. The discussion highlighted the role of Lok Adalats in easing the burden on courts while providing accessible justice to the public. Students were particularly interested in how ADR could be applied to real-life situations and asked many questions during the concluding Q&A session.
